

THE REMAKING OF THE GLOBAL ENERGY ORDER IN THE ERA OF TECTONIC CHANGE

a lecture and lunch with

Edward Morse

Global Head of Commodities, CITI Research

Thursday, October 15, 2015 • Noon
Oklahoma Memorial Union, Regents Room
RSVP to rkmartin@ou.edu by October 12

Edward Morse is Managing Director and Head of Global Commodities Research at Citigroup Global Markets, Inc. in New York.

He previously held similar positions at Lehman Brothers, Louis Capital Markets and Credit Suisse. He also worked at Hess Energy Trading Co. (HETCO). Widely cited in the media, he is a contributor to publications such as Foreign Affairs, Financial Times, The New York Times and The Washington Post. He worked in the US government at the State Department, and later was an advisor to the United Nations Compensation Commission on Iraq. In addition, he was an advisor to the US Departments of State, Energy and Defense, as well as the International Energy Agency on issues related to oil, natural gas and the impact of financial flows on energy prices. A former Princeton professor, Morse is also author of numerous books and articles on energy, economics and international affairs. He also published Petroleum Intelligence Weekly among other trade periodicals.

This lecture and lunch is part of the “Energy, Climate and Security” Presidential Dream Course. Visit www.ou.edu/dias for more information on all the events affiliated with this course.

The UNIVERSITY of OKLAHOMA®
College of International Studies
Department of International and Area Studies