Course Title:
International Relations Theory

Course Number:
PSC 5513-221

Course Description:
This course is an advanced graduate seminar that surveys the primary theoretical approaches relevant in the study of international relations. The course also explores the ways in which these theories help us understand the daily practice of international politics. Ultimately, the course seeks to provide students with substantive knowledge about how scholars, researchers and analysts use international relations theories to make sense of global affairs, as well as how these theories influence the making and implementation of foreign policies. The first part of the course focuses on the examination of three broad theoretical approaches – realism/neorealism, liberalism/neoliberalism and social constructivism – as well as their application to relevant policy issues of the day. The second part of the course concentrates on the theoretical bases for three specific foreign policy tools and methods, including the democratic peace, diplomatic endeavors and the role of nongovernmental organizations. The final segment of the course focuses on the creation and presentation of international policy projects concerning three important international concerns – illicit trafficking, poverty/development and the global environment.

Students are expected to read the assigned readings before the course begins and come to class prepared for discussion. Students are expected to participate actively in class discussion of the material.

A final examination will be administered during the last session of the course. Review questions will be provided during the week. The final exam will cover material from the assigned readings and class discussion.

Grading:

This is a letter-graded course: A, B, C, D, or F. Final grades will be calculated as follows: 20% Class Participation, 30% Group Project and 50% Final Examination. Grades will be determined by the quality of written exams, class participation and project presentation. The professor reserves the right to adjust grades in borderline cases depending on the quality of an individual's in-class participation and discussion.

Notice: Failure to meet assignment due dates could result in a grade of I (Incomplete) and may adversely impact Tuition Assistance and/or Financial Aid.
Policies and Notices

Attendance/Grade Policy

Attendance and participation in interaction, individual assignments, group exercises, simulations, role playing, etc. are valuable aspects of any course because much of the learning comes from discussions in class with other students. It is expected that you attend all classes and be on time except for excused emergencies.

Excused absences are given for professor mandated activities or legally required activities such as emergencies or military assignments. It is the policy of the University to excuse absences of students that result from religious observances and to provide without penalty for the rescheduling of examinations and additional required class work that may fall on religious holidays. Unavoidable personal emergencies, including (but not limited to) serious illness; delays in getting to class because of accidents, etc.; deaths and funerals, and hazardous road conditions will be excused.

If you are obtaining financial assistance (TA, STAP, FA, VA, Scholarship, etc.) to pay all or part of your tuition cost, you must follow your funding agency/institution’s policy regarding “I” (Incomplete) grades unless the timeline is longer than what the University policy allows then you must adhere to the University policy. Students who receive Financial Aid must resolve/complete any “I” (Incomplete) grades by the end of the term or he/she may be placed on “financial aid probation.” If the “I” grade is not resolved/completed by the end of the following term, the student’s Financial Aid may be suspended make the student ineligible for further Financial Aid.

Students are responsible for meeting the guidelines of Tuition Assistance and Veterans Assistance. See the education counselor at your local education center for a complete description of your TA or VA requirements.

Academic Integrity and Student Conduct

Academic integrity means honesty and responsibility in scholarship. Academic assignments exist to help students learn; grades exist to show how fully this goal is attained. Therefore all work and all grades should result from the student's own understanding and effort.

Academic misconduct is any act which improperly affects the evaluation of a student’s academic performance or achievement. Misconduct occurs when the student either knows or reasonably should know that the act constitutes misconduct. Academic misconduct includes: cheating and using unauthorized materials on examinations and other assignments; improper collaboration, submitting the same assignment for different classes (self-plagiarism); fabrication, forgery, alteration of documents, lying, etc…in order to obtain an academic advantage; assisting others in academic misconduct; attempting to commit academic misconduct; destruction of property, hacking, etc…; intimidation and interference with integrity process; and plagiarism. All students should review the Student’s Guide to Academic Integrity at http://integrity.ou.edu/students_guide.html

Students and faculty each have responsibility for maintaining an appropriate learning environment. All students should review policies regarding student conduct at http://studentconduct.ou.edu/
