“Pre-1979 Revolution Iranian Political Pamphlet Collection”

Research Guide and Catalogue

Introduction to the Guide

The University of Oklahoma has acquired a substantial collection of primary source material relating to the 1979 Iranian revolution. The collection comprises approximately three hundred items, mostly consisting of pamphlets and short political tracts produced by intellectuals, student activists, and political parties working to overthrow the Pahlavi monarchy. Much of the material was printed and circulated by leftist and Islamist opposition groups residing in Europe and North American during the 1960s and 1970s. The bulk of the material is in Persian. Some items in the collection are also in English, French, and Arabic. Among the Persian language sources are numerous translations from material originally in Russian, German, French, Arabic, Chinese, and Vietnamese. Collectively, the material illustrates the global currents of thought and politics that shaped much of the anti-Shah activism in the years preceding the 1979 revolution. While many of the items in this collection are unique, the “OU Pre-1979 Revolution Iranian Political Pamphlet Collection” is intended to supplement the substantial collections housed at other libraries and research institutions, such as the “Iranian Political Opposition Literature Collection” at the Hoover Institution in Stanford, California, the University of Manchester’s “Nashriyah: digital Iranian history” archive, and material held at Amsterdam’s International Institute for Social History. Smaller collections and individual items may also be found at other major research libraries.

This research guide is intended to assist scholars who are interested in making use of the OU collection. The guide consists of two parts. Part I (page 2-20) lists by name those items that have an identifiable author. These items are listed in alphabetical order, by author’s last name. In Part II of this research guide (page 20-38) you will find listed those items that do not have an identifiable author. Each item listed below also includes a call number that corresponds with Bizzell Memorial Library’s online catalogue system (<https://libraries.ou.edu/>). None of the items in this collection are available for circulation via the interlibrary loan system. All items can be accessed by students, scholars, and researchers in the Special Collection’s reading room at Bizzell Library on the campus of the University of Oklahoma.
