ABOUT THE UNIVERSITY OF OKLAHOMA CAMPUSES

NORMAN CAMPUS

The central campus and the offices of administration of the University of Oklahoma are located on some 3,500 acres in Norman, a city of 100,000 residents. Norman is located near the center of the state, 20 miles south of Oklahoma City, the state capital.

The colleges housed on the Norman campus are University College, the College of Architecture, the College of Arts and Sciences, the Michael F. Price College of Business, the College of Education, the College of Engineering, the Weitzenhoffer Family College of Fine Arts, the College of Geosciences, the Graduate College, the Honors College, the Gaylord College of Journalism and Mass Communication, the College of Law, and the College of Liberal Studies. The Norman campus is also headquarters for the College of Continuing Education, which directs outreach programs throughout the state and around the world.

The Norman campus consists of three sections -- central campus, south campus and north campus. Most of the academic and administrative buildings are located on the central campus, noted for its Cherokee Gothic architecture and award-winning landscaping. Also situated on the central campus are the university residence halls; the Sarkeys Energy Center; the University Libraries; the Fred Jones Jr. Museum of Art; Catlett Music Center, including Sharp Concert Hall and Pitman Recital Hall; Oklahoma Memorial Union; recreational facilities, including the Huston Huffman Physical Fitness Center and the Murray Case Sells Swim Complex; the Gaylord Family Oklahoma Memorial Stadium; and the Oklahoma Center for Continuing Education, a year-round educational center and conference site. Located one block east of the central campus is the OU Brandt Park and the Duck Pond, a recreational area used throughout the year by OU students and Norman residents. David A. Burr Park is conveniently located near residence halls and other recreational facilities.

Immediately adjacent to central campus is the south campus, site of the Law Center and OU Foundation; the Stephenson Research and Technology Center; the University apartments; Lloyd Noble Center and parking complex; the tennis complex; the Jimmie Austin University of Oklahoma Golf Course; L. Dale Mitchell Baseball Park; the Women's Softball facility; the Sam Viersen Gymnastics Center; and OU's Children's World Learning Center. The world-class Sam Noble Oklahoma Museum of Natural History opened to the public in 2000.

North campus, which is two miles north of the central campus, includes the Merrick Computer Center; Max Westheimer Airport, the University-operated airport that also serves the city of Norman; Swearingen Research Park, where government agencies and industry have established facilities; and a complex of federal, state, private, and university meteorological agencies including the National Severe Storms Laboratory, the National Weather Service Forecast Office, the Storm Prediction Center, and the NEXRAD Operational Test Facility.

Other research and study units of the university include the Biological Station on Lake Texoma; the Sutton Avian Research Center in Bartlesville; the Oklahoma Geophysical Observatory at Leonard near Tulsa; the Aquatic Biology Fisheries Research Center in Noble near Norman; and the Oklahoma Climatological Survey, the Oklahoma Biological Survey, the Oklahoma Archaeological Survey, the Charles M. Russell Center for the Study of Art of the American West, the Cooperative Institute for Mesoscale Meteorological Studies (CIMMS), and the Center for the Analysis and Prediction of Storms (CAPS) in Norman. In addition, the Oklahoma Geological Survey is a separate state agency located on the Norman campus and responsible to the University of Oklahoma Regents.

ABOUT THE UNIVERSITY OF OKLAHOMA CAMPUSES

HEALTH SCIENCES CENTER

The University of Oklahoma Health Sciences Center is the state's major educational resource for training physicians, dentists, nurses, pharmacists, public health specialists and a wide range of allied health personnel.

The center is composed of the College of Allied Health, College of Dentistry, College of Medicine, College of Nursing, College of Pharmacy, the College of Public Health and the Graduate College.

Faculty and students use the clinical, laboratory and teaching facilities at the OU Medical Center, Veterans Administration Medical Center, Children's Hospital at OU Medical Center, Presbyterian Hospital, Dean A. McGee Eye Institute, Oklahoma State Department of Health, Oklahoma Medical Research Foundation, other affiliated hospitals in Oklahoma City, the major teaching hospitals in Tulsa, the Veterans Administration Hospital in Muskogee and various affiliated hospitals and clinics in other locations in Oklahoma. The OU Health Sciences Center is the educational core of a group of 28 public and private health care institutions that make up the Oklahoma Health Center.

Also housed at the University of Oklahoma is OU Physicians, the state's largest physician group. The practice encompasses nearly every adult and child specialty. Many OU Physicians have expertise in the management of complex conditions. Such expertise is unavailable anywhere else in the state, region or sometimes even the nation. Some have pioneered surgical procedures or innovations in patient care that are world firsts. They also serve as faculty at the University of Oklahoma College of Medicine and train the region's future physicians.

TULSA LOCATIONS

OU-Tulsa is located at the Schusterman Center, 4502 East 41st St., Tulsa, OK 74135. On this campus both the OU Health Sciences Center and the OU Norman Campus offer programs, including graduate degrees in Allied Health, Nursing, Medicine, Doctor of Pharmacy, Public Health, Architecture, Human Relations, Library and Information Studies, Knowledge Management, Organizational Dynamics, Public Administration, Social Work, Music Education (Kodaly Certificate), Education, Telecommunications Systems and a Doctor of Philosophy in Organizational Leadership. Degree completion programs in undergraduate Nursing and a Bachelor of Liberal Studies are also offered in Tulsa.

COLLEGE OF CONTINUING EDUCATION

The College of Continuing Education provides academic outreach opportunities to the state, region and nation. As the administrative unit for outreach at the University of Oklahoma, continuing education programs are the means by which the university extends its resources to the people of Oklahoma and beyond. By encompassing comprehensive, multidisciplinary academic services and programs that focus on the needs of adult learners, the College of Continuing Education offers both credit and non-credit courses, seminars, workshops, conferences, correspondence study, public service activities, and travel/study programs. The diversity and quality of the services available through continuing education programs provide an exciting and challenging academic experience.

2000 The School of Journalism and Mass Communication was elevated to college status. The college was named in honor of the Edward L. Gaylord publishing family of Oklahoma City, who made a $22 million gift to the college.

Through a bequest by the late Clara Weitzenhoffer, OU received the most important gift of French Impressionist art ever made to a public university and the largest gift to a public university in Oklahoma history. The Clara and Aaron Weitzenhoffer Collection comprises 33 works of art by such artists as Degas, Gauguin, Monet, Pissarro, Renoir, Toulouse-Latrec, Van Gogh and Vuillard.

OU's five-year Reach for Excellence Campaign concluded after raising $514 million in private gifts, more than double the original goal of $200 million and ranking OU's as the fourth most successful campaign among those completed by U.S. public universities.

First OU academic occupant, College of Pharmacy, moved into the Schusterman Center in Tulsa.

2001 The School of International and Area Studies was created.

The A. Max Weitzenhoffer Department of Musical Theatre was awarded department status.

The Health Sciences Center established a general clinical research center to provide treatment in an environment that assures maximum patient safety and enhancement of Oklahoma's biomedical research infrastructure to enable scientists from across the state to use the human genome data as well as new imaging technologies to study human diseases.

A state-of-the-art practice facility for OU Physicians, the OU Physicians Building, was completed.

Post-tenure review process was approved.

The Schusterman Center, headquarters for OU-Tulsa area programs, was formally dedicated.

Ken Levit named OU-Tulsa's second president.

2002 All OU programs in Tulsa moved to the Schusterman Center in the fall. This marked the first time in the university's history that all Tulsa academic programs were under one roof.

Edward L. Gaylord, on behalf of the Gaylord family of Oklahoma City, presented a $12 million gift to OU to complete the $75 million expansion and restoration of Oklahoma Memorial Stadium. In recognition the stadium was named the Gaylord Family Oklahoma Memorial Stadium.

To promote reading and improve academic achievement, OU's Athletics Department and University Libraries formed a partnership to establish a $1 million endowment by making a leadership gift of $250,000 toward the endowment, using royalties derived from the sale of athletics merchandise.

The Henderson-Tolson Cultural Center, honoring George Henderson and Melvin B. Tolson Jr., two of OU's most outstanding black faculty, was dedicated.

OU held the 75th Anniversary Celebration of the Western History Collections, a collection of materials relating to the history of Oklahoma, the American Southwest, the American westward expansion and the history of American Indians in the American West.

Some 2,000 different Bibles, many notable and rare, and auxiliary and specialized studies about the Bible were given to the OU Libraries, complementing the Libraries' world-renowned William Bizzell Bible Collection of 665 Bibles and related works.

2002 Rare books, antique doctors' bags, medical instruments and microscopes filled the History of Medicine Collection as it opened its doors in its new home in the Robert M. Bird Health Sciences Library.

OU was selected as one of seven public and private research/doctoral institutions to receive the 2002 Circle of Excellence in Educational Fund Raising Award from the Council for Advancement and Support of Education.

2003 Fourteen new endowed faculty positions were created with FY2003 gifts.

President David L. Boren initiated the Sooner Heritage Scholarships Campaign in January 2003 to assist students and their families in absorbing an increase in tuition and fees.

A $10 million grant from the Schusterman Family Foundation to the Tulsa campus enabled the OU-Tulsa campus to move forward with the construction of a Multipurpose Educational Facility.

Groundbreaking was held for the OU-Tulsa Research and Medical Clinic at the Schusterman Center, made possible by the passage of the Vision 2025 bond issue.

A number of significant construction projects were begun on the Norman campus in 2003, including historic Holmberg Hall's $18 million renovation, the Stephenson Research and Technology Center, a new addition to the Fred Jones Jr. Museum of Art, and the second phase of the Nielsen Hall addition and renovation project. Groundbreaking ceremonies were held for Gaylord Hall, future home of the Gaylord College of Journalism and Mass Communication, as well as for Michael F. Price Hall, the addition to Adams Hall for the Michael F. Price College of Business.

The Thams Collection of Southwestern art by members of the famous Taos Society of Artists, also known as the Taos Colony, opened to the public at the Fred Jones Jr. Museum of Art. The collection was one of the most important single gifts of art to a public university in Oklahoma history.

OU continued its chain of record-breaking years in research and funding for externally sponsored programs. The National Science Foundation awarded OU a five-year Information Technology Research Grant to improve the detection and prediction of high impact local weather. OU was named a primary partner in the Engineering Research Center for Collaborative Adaptive Sensing of the Atmosphere. Funded in part by the National Science Foundation, the center's focus will be groundbreaking sensing technology that will improve forecasts and warnings of such weather hazards as tornadoes and flash floods. A $10 million grant -- the largest ever in the OU College of Dentistry's 33-year history -- will allow researchers to look at new ways of fighting tooth decay and gum disease.

The first student housing facility at the OU Health Sciences Center, University Village Apartments, opened.

The new Dermatology Surgery Center opened at OU Physicians Dermatology in Oklahoma City.

2004 The Board of Regents recognized David L. Boren, President, and Molly Shi Boren, First Lady, for 10 years of leadership with the designation of the Honors College building as David L. Boren Hall, the student center at the Health Sciences Center as the David L. Boren Student Union and a street at Tulsa's Schusterman Center as David L. Boren Blvd. To honor Mrs. Boren, a courtyard and shade garden at the Health Sciences Center was named the Molly Shi Boren Courtyard and the ballroom in Oklahoma Memorial Union was named the Molly Shi Boren Ballroom.

The OU College of Fine Arts was named the Weitzenhoffer Family College of Fine Arts after a family with a long history of supporting the university.

- Notes: 1) The retention rates are adjusted to include Health Science Center transfers. The graduation rates reflect those students starting on the Norman Campus and graduating from the Health Sciences Center.
 2) Beginning with the 1996 cohort, students completing a program of >2 and <4 years are added to the 6-year graduation rate. These students are in degree programs where the professional degree is the first degree awarded, such as pharmacy and physical therapy.
