GRADUATE STUDENT SENATE

SENATE SESSION GS26

January 29, 2026

SENATE RESOLUTION GS26-01

AS INTRODUCED

A Senatorial Resolution outlining the damages and harm caused by the University's decision to terminate a graduate teaching assistant; calling for actions to ensure accountability, transparency, and academic integrity at the University of Oklahoma; and providing for distribution.

- Whereas: The Graduate Student Senate (GSS) at the University of Oklahoma was established to represent the interests of graduate students at the University and to serve their needs.
- Whereas: On December 22, 2025, following the conclusion of the Fall 2025 semester, but before final grades were due, when most students and faculty had left campus for the winter break, the University released a statement indicating that it had concluded its investigation into accusations of religious discrimination made by Samantha Fulnecky against a graduate student instructor.<sup>1</sup>
- Whereas: The University's statement indicates that the University has ruled against the graduate student and that "the graduate teaching assistant will no longer have instructional duties at the University."<sup>1</sup>
- Whereas: The University's decision to terminate the instructional duties of the graduate teaching assistant has caused direct harm and damage to the graduate student by depriving them of valuable teaching experience and tarnishing their professional reputation.
- Whereas: The University's decision to terminate the instructional duties of the graduate teaching assistant has caused irreparable damage to the academic integrity and the reputation of the University.<sup>2, 3</sup>

- Whereas: The University’s decision to terminate the instructional duties of the graduate teaching assistant over this particular assignment and case has drawn sharp criticism from students, faculty, and diverse organizations representing a broad range of political interests.<sup>3, 4</sup>
- Whereas: In an interview with Oklahoma News 9<sup>5</sup>, Samantha Fulnecky was unable to correctly identify the main idea and conclusions of the article assigned in this case.<sup>6</sup> Additionally, Ms. Fulnecky admitted that, rather than reading the article carefully and thoughtfully completing the assigned work as is expected of an OU student, she “wrote it in maybe, like, 30 minutes” as she rushed off to see a play.<sup>5</sup>
- Whereas: The University has now created an opportunity for appeals and lawsuits alleging:
1. Failure “to examine whether the student [Ms. Fulnecky] may have had an ulterior motive in pursuing such a complaint.”<sup>7</sup>
  2. That the University “continued to issue public statements regarding the investigation, despite confidentiality rules that kept [the graduate teaching assistant] from being able to discuss any details of the situation, while the student [Ms. Fulnecky] was going on a circuit of local and national television interviews.”<sup>7</sup>
  3. Potential participation in “a political movement that seeks to silence and/or oust LGBTQ people from academia.”<sup>7</sup>
- Whereas: It is unclear what, if any, official policies the University followed as it conducted its investigation into this case given:
1. The University’s statement indicates that “At the same time of the investigation, the Provost—the University’s highest ranking academic officer—and the academic Dean reviewed the full facts of the matter. Based on an examination of the graduate teaching assistant’s prior grading standards and patterns, as well as the graduate teaching assistant’s own statements related to this matter, it was determined that the graduate teaching assistant was arbitrary in the grading of this specific paper. The graduate teaching assistant will no longer have instructional duties at the university.”<sup>1</sup>

2. According to the Dodge Family College of Arts and Science's policy for an Academic Grade Appeal<sup>8</sup>, neither the Provost nor the academic Dean are involved in grade appeals within the college in which the allegations of Ms. Fulnecky occurred.
3. According to the University's non-discrimination policy<sup>9</sup> and the University's published Investigative Process for Internal Complaints Under the Non-Discrimination Policy<sup>10</sup>, the Institutional Equity Office is responsible for investigating all claims of discrimination in a process that does not involve the Provost or academic Dean.

Therefore, it is unclear why either of these individuals should have been involved in the investigation of the graduate teaching assistant's grading. Additionally, it is unclear that the University followed official policies when making a final decision in this case.

Whereas: The University has not taken any public action regarding a previous Senate Resolution (Call to Action Regarding the University's Responsibilities to Students in Investigations, Senate Resolution GF25-21) and a petition from the OU chapter of the American Association of University Professors<sup>11, 12</sup> calling for greater transparency, increased action to protect academic freedom and academic integrity at the university, greater protections for the campus community against harassment, and greater protections for OU instructors.

Whereas: The University's actions in this case directly contradict the values of and directly hinder the pillars of the University's strategic plan, Lead On, University.<sup>13</sup>

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE UNIVERSITY OF OKLAHOMA GRADUATE STUDENT SENATE THAT:

Section 1: Title: This resolution shall be known and may be cited as the "Call for Accountability, Transparency, and Academic Integrity."

- Section 2: GSS maintains that the University’s decision to terminate the instructional duties of the graduate teaching assistant in this case has damaged academic integrity and the institutional reputation of the University of Oklahoma.
- Section 3: GSS maintains that the negative effects of the University’s actions are the direct result of the University administration’s failure to take a stand to defend their instructors and the University’s academic integrity. Such a failure and its associated, disastrous results indicate that the current University administration is potentially unfit to lead the University.
- Section 4: Given the facts, assertions, and concerns above, GSS calls for the following:
1. For the University administration to hold a meeting with the leadership of the Graduate Student Senate and Faculty Senate to discuss actions to increase transparency, accountability, and academic integrity following this case.
  2. The reinstatement of the graduate teaching assistant to their instructional duties.
  3. An independent audit into the University’s decision in this case to determine:
    - a. If University policies were properly followed in the course of the University’s investigation,
    - b. If Ms. Fulnecky or any other party made any false or misleading statements in the course of the University’s investigation that affected the University’s decision to terminate the graduate teaching assistant, and
    - c. If there was improper prejudice or coordinated action against LGBTQ+ individuals in the course of the University’s investigation.
  4. Immediate action by the University to address the requests in Call to Action Regarding the University’s Responsibilities to Students in Investigations (Senate Resolution GF25-21) and the OU-AAUP’s petition<sup>11</sup>, including:
    - a. Initiate a process with GSS, the AAUP, and other faculty and student organizations to develop a specific Harassment Response and Prevention Plan that provides clear guidelines for the campus community for responding to political attacks<sup>11</sup>,
    - b. Provide a public condemnation of bullying and harassment directed toward any member of the OU campus community,
    - c. Within the bounds of the law, release full details on the policies and processes that resulted in the graduate teaching assistant being placed on administrative leave and subsequently terminated from their teaching duties. If the law prevents the disclosure of any of this information, the University should provide a written explanation detailing which law prevents the disclosure.
    - d. Provide a public statement “[reaffirming] the right of OU faculty and instructors to teach, grade, and research free from political interference, unlawful mandates, or pressures that inhibit authentic engagement.”<sup>11</sup>
- Section 5: GSS maintains that only by heeding the calls detailed in Section 4 of this resolution can the University begin to repair the damage it has done to its students, its faculty, its staff, its alumni, and the broader OU campus community.

Section 6: Copies of this resolution will be sent to:
