- Veto Override Vote

Motion to override veto

Representative Stack seconded by Representative Werdel

Cassidy: I would love to talk in caucus. This bill was written based off a year of discussion. The bill was vetoed because of the transparency requirement. Someone went to the committee on my behalf. I believe that all the issues would all have been fixed if we had these requirements. Some of the requirements in this bill would be having a 24-hour notice of the meeting and agenda. This would also require agenda and minutes to be public. Basically, this would keep them from not having secret meetings. We care about transparency, if someone wants a raise, you would want to know why they get what they get, and wouldn't you want to know when your grievance was being talked about. Wouldn't you want to know everything they are talking about? This is the most minimal requirement we could ask of an organization if they are holding meetings.

Gibbs: We need transparency. But we do have SGA representation. I want to keep all the language in this bill the same. In a meeting with the SLS advisory board, myself and the three students that sit on the board, one of the reasons they didn't want a bill is because they needed more time to look over this bill. We still have transparency because of our representatives that attend the meeting. We are not trying to hide anything. The nature of these discussions could have to be confidential because of attorney client privilege.

- Retirement Speeches

Kuketz: Hello All!

Wow! Here I stand before you all, this body where I have spent the last 3 years of my life. Speeches have never really been my thing before, but tonight, I decided to plan ahead, I wrote a speech up so that way I could stay organized and say everything I wanted to say, rather than forget it.

Joining Congress has changed me in so many remarkable ways, from leadership experience and character building, to friendships made along the way and all the laughs and good times I have been able to experience because of my time in Congress. I joined nearly three years ago, in the Fall of 2016. Then I was sophomore, still a geology major and still confused about my place at this great university. I joined Congress because I had always been fascinated by the legislative process and joining a leadership organization like the SGA had a great allure on me (also the vacant seat in the Earth and Energy District helped!). Anyway, upon my arrival in this room that year, I knew no one and I expected anything could happen. Then Chair Rains-Saucedo gavelled us into a whirlwind of a meeting, and I remember a flurry of “on information’s” and “on a motions”. I remember Dan Williams firing off his questions in a manner that I felt I could never pick up. Even then I remember him describing himself as “the old man” of the body. I felt very lost, as I imagine many freshman members feel on their first meeting, but I knew I wanted to stay in this organization because I believed if I were to have a meaningful impact on this campus, it would be here.

I was honored to be approached by my committee chair, MJ, near the end of her term and she asked if I had any interest in chairing the Sustainability Committee. Shocked doesn’t really describe what I felt because I did not feel deserving of the position. I had not been around that long and my knowledge of parli pro was nowhere near where I thought it needed to be. Taking that step and joining the leadership was one of the best decisions I made in college.

In the fall of my junior year, I really started to connect with the other members of Congress. I first met (hopefully Chair DeAngeli!!!!!!) when she was a brand-new member and the only one who wanted to be my vice-chair. I had no idea how much she wanted the role, but she was willing to stand up and offer help to the committee. Throughout my term, she offered guidance and her thoughts on where best to take a committee that was brand new. I am not sure why I feel this, but I am extremely proud of what you have accomplished Emma, as my vice-chair, as chair of SUS, and now as Chair of Congress. You once told me you had no interest in congress besides the sustainability aspect of it but now here you are, I am happy you stayed.

While I cannot recount every memory, I have had in congress, as much as I’d like to, I would like to mention and give some shout outs to the people who have had the biggest impact on my time. I would like to thank Kaylee and Sanah, although they have graduated, I still felt it appropriate to mention. I admired your leadership and kind hearts, who have helped me grow to where I am today. Dan, your tenacity, sincerity, and loyalty make you a truly astounding individual. I value our friendship. Gabi, you are a caring friend who values all her friendships, and I know that in a time of need, you would be there no questions asked. Shayla, while I haven’t known you for very long, you are one of the most genuine people I have met in college, funny, loyal, and I am happy to have gained your friendship over the last couple semesters. Karla, you always know how to make someone laugh and I am very happy to have become your friend. Tom, you have an amazing sense of humor and it was a great time to serve as a committee chair under you, Sam, you're a thoughtful and smart friend, I know you will be very successful and Hunter, you make class bearable and I value the time we have had as friends. I would like to give thanks to Mackenzie, I've known you since you were the Congress secretary, you have been a great friend to me since then, someone whom I can talk to and be able to have a good laugh with. You are smart, funny, and incredibly kind hearted and patient I will cherish our friendship and all the good times we have had. Richard, I've never met anyone who loves JFK as much as you. Your friendship means so much to me, as an honest, kind, and great to be around person. From the mountains of Peru, to the state capitol, I appreciate the memories that we all shared.

There are so many more people I would like to give a shoutout to but we would be here all night, I love and appreciate all of you, cause you are the best of the best who come to represent the OU community here every week. I wish you all a great year in Session 102. I know your new leadership team will be amazing and I wish you all an amazing year ahead, I yield for the last time!

Shayla: Mine's not going to be that long. I've been in congress for 2 years. Won my seat by 6 votes. Very exciting times. Joined also because of an old member. I have met some of my closest friends in congress. I will always cherish my time here. I quickly started talking to much in meetings. You are welcome for the roll call votes. Not specifics on people I am steel I don't cry. I am thankful for all of you. I love you all. Do great things. Goodbye.

Quick: It is my loss if I haven't met you. I have been in SGA for four years which seemed like a long time. Great time. Best friends. SGA best activity here at OU. You can make a difference too if you lean into it. Lauren, you cannot have my office until the end of the year. Thank you, George, for help. No drugs. All a's or b's or c's.

Cassidy: It is hard to believe my 3 years are coming to a close. I am happy but I will miss you all. I started as an associate. I got reeled in by the drama. Met lots of amazing people. Many other people in this room made an impact on my life. I don't have emotions so I'm not getting sappy. Last year when we were rewriting the code annotated. Everyone hated me because the meetings were 7 hours long each time. But it was interesting because we all uncovered lots of parts of SGA that we didn't really know about. Those were interesting to find out. I was really interested to be a part of that process. Someone hacked our twitter that was amazing. I got a ticket, there was a tornado, ran in the daily, my boss elected official governor's cabinet saw the article. Can't google it to find my name. There are many times where I repeated that though. It was a really impactful year; it was an amazing experience. Made sure we were no negatively impacting students or any group of students. Fun arguments with people. You all are amazing. You are passionate. Thank you to the exec committee for the long hours. Thank you, Kenzie, and Richy for being partners in crime and avoiding crime with the open meetings act. Thank you all. Emma I am happy to hand over the gavel.

Cordova: What a bittersweet moment this is! I have spent my entire college career in this Body and I can't believe it's already coming to an end. I want to take a few moments to reflect on my time here and highlight some amazing things that this organization has provided me. I came into Congress my freshman year as an associate and I remember being so intimidated. I didn't know ParliPro, I only knew one person in the Body, and I had no idea what I was getting myself in to; all I had were ideas of how to make OU an even better University. Some of you remember Kaylee Rains-Saucedo, the Chair at the time, who molded the future of this organization in so many ways. She took the time to invest in me as a member, a person, and as a friend, and ended up encouraging me to run for my first representative seat. From then on, I only became more excited about and involved in Congress. During my journey from associate, to a representative, to Congress Secretary and Vice Chair, I have loved my time in this organization. While it was certainly stressful at times, Congress taught me so many valuable lessons and gave me opportunities unlike anything I could have imagined when I came to this school. But it wasn't just the nature of this organization that shaped me and my college journey, it's was incredible people. I met my lifelong best friends in this organization, and I want to take a moment to mention some of them who have had such an impact on my life. Gabi, you are a constant friend that I know always has my back no matter what and I am forever grateful for you.

Tim, you bring joy to every situation and have truly encouraged me to keep trying even when things get hard. Hunter, I am so thankful for your meal swipes and your happy-go-lucky personality for always keeping my physically and emotionally full. Shayla, you are the friend I never knew I needed—you are my confidante and most steady support and I could not be more thankful for you. Karla, you remind me to love myself no matter the situation and you bring more joy and laughter into my crazy life than I ever thought imaginable. Tom, thank you for guiding me and helping shape me into the person and leader I am today—you're really going places! Rich, I probably don't have to explain much about how thankful for you I am—you are my best friend and I couldn't make it through this crazy life without you. For those of you who I didn't mention, please know that you each have impacted my life for the better and I am forever grateful for that. Congress has given me more lessons, joy, and friendship in the past 3 years than I ever thought possible. I will miss you all so dearly and know this organization is in such good hands. Thank you all for the best years!

- Awards and Recognitions

Cassidy: Here are some quick awards for outstanding members of congress. This piece of legislation was thoroughly debated and took a lot of work. Molly Power Karley Nadolski for course evaluations.

Cordova: They have so much personality.

Holt: They know parli pro.

Cassidy: Outstanding rep: Shayla powers. Associates come and go. She certainly had a huge impact with their committee and always tried to reach out.

Holt: She had GREAT attendance.

Cassidy: Lauren miller for perfect attendance. Another one was someone who went out of their way to impact a student body had to leave early Abbey Wagerenski for food recovery. Most prestigious award, over entire time made the biggest impact in many ways and this person really has made a big impact on everyone in their body. Only member to get a front-page story in the daily, I was really intimidated by him.

Holt: First person I met in congress and he saved me by bringing up things to talk about. He is a huge mentor of mine and knows more about SGA than he probably should. He has done a lot for a lot for state organizations.

Cordova: I have heard this person talk about this award. Dreams come true Dan Williams

Cassidy: Lots of people run out of paper. This person enriched us most likely to make an announcement, Julio Rojas. Views remain mystery I always knew how they felt every step of the way. Most expressive Karley Nadolski. Honorable mentions most likely to bring food, Schnider. Sarah Hobson extraordinary persistent. Most likely to present a bill for an absent author Lauren Patton.

Cordova: Never afraid to speak their mind and knows their consentience. Really care about district. Most likely to speak up for district Paulina del Rio. As secretary, everyone's attendance. Some people I never have to worry about. Only had one absence the entire year. Lucy Alpert outstanding attendance. Best ghost rider best performance of ghost-written speech Werdel and hunter stack. Best use of parli pro Katie Faulkner. Most efficient authors ex Sam quick.

Cordova: Most welcoming, brought in people.

Holt: Dear friend of mine, committee chair. She is the reason I am here today. Her dogs helped Cassidy: Most welcoming to new members. Outgoing seniors. Tim, Shayla, Caitlyn, Paulina, Dan Williams, Mackenzie Cordova, and me.

CR-102-08 A Resolution Supporting the Implementation of the STEV platform (Bonić)

Bonić: I will introduce two people to give an explanation of their program. They have a presentation and would appreciate an extension of their authors explanation.

Motion to extend Authors' explanation by 15 minutes
Representative Werdel seconded by Representative Rojas

Jett: We developed a website called STEVE. I am a mechanical engineering major and he is too. We wanted to change the way the existing course evaluations are available to students. They are public but hardly accessible. They are posted in collections of PDF files. They are very hard to find even though it is very important to be able to look at other instructors' reviews. University of Idaho has one of these but also has student reviews publicized. University of Oklahoma does not have this. Right now, on the OU website, each semester has a link and it will take you to a large PDF file and you can sort through all of them on your own, but these are not helpful at all. We wanted to take the data and put the data in, in a more friendly way. Students typically use Rate My Professor, but these reviews are skewed. There are questionable comparative measures. A problem with this website is the adds. For example, this is a professor that has been here for years but there were only four reviews. Schuermann: We are trying to create a bridge between students and this information. This is a more reliable source than Rate My Professor. With STEVE, students can easily look up professors and this will bring the data to the public.

Jett: We worked with admin office and some of the colleges. This is the website that we built. We will look up Dr. Hayes. If you are trying to see if a course was offered in one semester it will probably offered in another semester. You can also tailor things that you are interested in a more uniform way. You can look at individual questions and see how they compare to other courses. You can sort by course as well. You can also see all the professors that taught this course. This is the most recent semester. We encourage you all to look at this. You can see how this course did relative to the department average. Our goal is to publish this app, we want more data and to make it more applicable. We want to apply faculty feedback. We have talked to a couple people involved to get their feedback. We want this up and running by spring 2020.

Schuermann: We have developed the entire application, but we are graduating so we want to give this to the university so that other students can carry this on. If anyone has anything, they want to add to the application they could add their own code. This could also turn into capstone projects. We have spoken to faculty and students and gathered feedback, now we want SGA to serve as a proxy between us and administration. We would like to see some validation.

Bonić: We want to support this application to show administration that SGA supports this application. I did a lot of research and a lot of reviews are really bias. A lot of you didn't know that the course evaluations are public. This is a great way of putting things in a concise way. If anyone has any questions, please ask.

Rojas: In a lot of departments, there is one professor per class, in Rate My Professor there is a review from one student but sometimes the professors can ask to take things down, if this gets implemented can the professor ask to remove reviews?

Jett: No, they should be publicly available, and they are state employees. In the current system, a professor can opt out of putting their reviews publicly. 95% opt in to posting them. There needs to be some action taken in this aspect, however. The committee that we spoke to said they were on stage one of four and we were disappointed in that. Students can also have biases, but they need to be able to use this as a tool.

Schuermann: They cannot retract anything previously published. They cannot be removed or altered retroactively. Sam was saying that professor can decide to make new ones public but most of them to not.

Bouch: What is your timeline for this project?

Jett: The website is functional, right now we are waiting on administration. We are hoping that SGA's support would help with that process.

Schuermann: New issues will come up software wise. We are looking to be phased out and trying to get more people on.

Bouch: Are there going to be transition documents for the new people getting involved in this?

Jett: Yes.

Schuermann: The source code is also public.

Jett: So are the bugs.

Nadolski: How do you see this resource fitting in with what SGA has already set in place regarding the updates course evaluation questions?

Bonić: I told them about University Policy's project, that we are trying to make them less bias. They are perfectly able to change based off of the questions that are asked they can change the data.

Rojas: Does this have to go through each college individually?

Bonić: They need support individual support from each college.

Motion to extend time for questioning by 5 minutes
Representative Rojas seconded by Representative Nadolski

Bonić: They want support to be able to talk to department heads.

Jett: There is a faculty committee which has been tasked with the evaluation process and a lot of times they believe they are being graded unfairly. They want better questions. If the instructor is teaching the same class for a long time and getting continuously negative feedback and nothing is changing, that is a problem. But if it is not being enforced then nothing can be done.

Schuermann: We have developed this entire application independent from the entire university. The PDF that you saw came from OU internal database. We made contact with the University to help us streamline the data straight from a couple different colleges. We will want to do this for all the departments. If that doesn't work, we have created systems to do that on our own.

Werdel: Will this cost the university?

Jett: No.

Schuermann: The app has to run on server infrastructure. Cost is incredibly minimal.

Nadolski: Are the creators of the website aware that the body is really impressed by this?

Schuermann: Thank you!

Ahmadi: Is this a congruent resolution or a congressional one?

Bonić: Congressional

Rojas: Would you accept a friendly amendment to take the Graduate Student Senate off the send to list?

Bonić: Yes.

Ahmadi: What is President Gallogly supposed to do with this piece of legislation.

Bonić: Nothing specifically, I put him on everything.

Motion to extend time for questioning by 5 minutes
Representative Rojas seconded by Representative Bouch

Ahmadi: If I were Kyle harper what would you want me to do with this piece of legislation?

Bonić: I would want him to know there was something being done.

Rojas: Would you accept a friendly amendment adding to section 3 deans of each college?

Bonić: Yes.

Norris: Hey I am from Sooner Freshman Council. After our interview process, we determined that these are the strongest candidates to take over the new executive team. We picked their brains on how they want to grow the program. All the applicants were strong, but they were standouts.

Nadolski: Tell us about yourself.

Mitranca: Hi! I am a freshman from Texas. I am a poli-sci pre law major. Sooner Freshman Council was wonderful, and I am so lucky to able to give that experience to someone else.

Rust: Hey! My name is Logan Rust. I am from Edmond Oklahoma and I am majoring in entrepreneurship. When I first joined SFC, I knew a couple people going into it. This place gave me an interesting opportunity to grow and learn.

CB-102-03 Act Allocating the 2019-2020 Conoco Student Leadership Center Office and Storage Space (Gibbs/Ohene-Nyako/Cassidy/Pavlovsky/Rabb)

Cassidy: This is a bill we present annually to allocate office and storage space in the Conoco. We had more organizations apply than we could allow. How or if you used office in the past is how we decided who got what space this year. There were a few that we could not give space to. There were some that said they were not willing to share office space and so we had to go with the size available. Spangler-Day: Fraternities and Sororities have two offices. Why?

Cassidy: They are actually comprised of 5 different organizations. We switched to assigning them based off the council and made it broad so the offices can still be used but they decide how to utilize all of their space.

McCans: How much experience did you gain in primary?

Patton: I got more experience with with primary last year because I was secretary. This year I didn't lead meetings, but I saw someone more efficiently run it.

Jordan Miller and Emily Tucker did a great job to make sure everything that happens in the meetings are reported to the daily. They have also reached out to me to ask questions. So, thank you so much for what you do. I would be accepting a friendly amendment to add Cordova and Holt as authors.

Cassidy: Gabi was a great webmaster is very helpful. This week we need a graphic for an unknown process that SGA is in charge of.

Cassidy: He was the only other person in the office until midnight more than I was. He has undertaken more responsibility that has gone a little unnoticed recently, but we appreciate it.

Holt: The common thought here is that executive team always knows what they are doing. False. Only George knows what he is doing. He is constantly available and always knows what's going on.

Cordova: CR-102-04 Thanking Curt and Debbie for funding organizations having meetings. Debbie is staff assistant behind the desk right at the front of the office and is an integral part of the process.

CR-102-07 A Resolution to Establish an OU Collegiate Recovery Program. (Gibbs/Patterson)

Gibbs: Over the last semester I have talked to student affairs about student recovery program.

Huckabee: I am someone in long term recovery from drugs and alcohol. 3 years ago, from Texas Tech. That program offered me a scholarship to go to college. Without this I would not be in college. This changed my life and my family life. There are about 102 students in this program. I went to DC for a national conference where there were thousands of people in this program and over 140 universities that have this program.

There is a governing body that sets standards. In June I have been doing my best to educate the University on these programs. Established organization students in recovery. This provides a safe space for students in recovery. This provides students who are struggling with addiction have a safe space.

Cordova: Is this a program that is already at this school? How many people would benefit?

Huckabee: Lots of students would benefit. Currently there are 452 students seeking recovery. We have an intervention program here. But we do not have anything that sustains or supports long term recovery. We can intervene. University of Alabama wanted to add to the intervention.

Bouch: What is your implementation plan here on campus?

Huckabee: It is going to be different than other places. The plan is to work with health services and student affairs. If a student gets referred to intervention, a strike 3 would remove them from the university. 10 students had to withdraw to get treatment because they cannot focus on education.

Merchant: Ideally, what does this program look like?

Huckabee: There would be a director and a student assistant. Hopefully 12 separate recovery meeting spaces. They would be looking at transfer students and new students as well as reaching out to the community. There are statistics show that students in these programs have higher GPA's and retention rates across the board.

Motion to extend time for questioning by 5 minutes
Representative Bouch seconded by Representative Rojas

Cordova: Are you accepting co-sponsors?

Huckabee: Yes.

Bouch: Will the University give out scholarship happen here?

Huckabee: Yes. My disease put me on probation and two felony charges. I did not get into Texas Tech they denied me. This scholarship overrode that decision and that changed my life.

Yadav: What department under health services would this program fall under?

Huckabee: If you go on the OU website and look under OU health services, click health promotions, then recovery tab, then Meetings my phone number come will up. We are already there. We just need SGA approval.

CB-102-04 Student Legal Services Financial Provision Act (Gibbs/Holt)

Holt: There was an override of the Student Legal Services bill, and since you did not override the veto, all the language is still in the code. The program needs to get funding. We wanted to add financial section in the code.

Gibbs: We want to be compliant with the HR policy.

Holt: The Attorneys need to get paid. This bill just outlines the financial section.

McCans: Is there something in place to make sure the bylaws are updated for Student Legal Services?

Holt: For SGA there is not technically. But this committee has been functioning for years without anything in the code. They have adequate bylaws. They will continue to do this. In the fall if we do not pass a bill, theoretically they will continue to do this.

Gibbs: We want to keep the bill the same and fix it by next semester.

Spangler-Day: Currently would this be a vote to finance it without regulating it?

Holt: Not exactly. The money is already encumbered. It would be funded generally but we are making sure that SGA would be the one funding it. This makes the language specific.

Alpert: What checks have been in place previously?

Holt: SGA could in the future decide not to fund it completely. We could have no control over how it operates. We wanted to have oversight, but we would not have any ability to check it.

Cassidy: Are you concerned that at first they did not want it to exist, but now they are concerned that they need to be pleasing to what the student body wants?

Gibbs: They are not concerned with the bill itself just a couple lines within it.

Holt: We have control. Adran is taking the advice of the committee and run with it. Ultimately it is our choice because we fund it. We do have all the leverage. But we do want the input of the committee.

Gibbs: I am not on the committee, but I go and listen.

Bouch: What changes do they want to make?

Gibbs: The only change they are looking at is changing the way we subject ourselves to the open's meeting act due to attorney client privilege. That is the only change. One more minor one is amending the rules of order.

Holt: the biggest concerned is that the committee had not met during the writing process of this bill.

Motion to extend time for for questioning by the end of the list and close the list

Representative Bouch seconded by Representative Stack

Cassidy: Are you worried that the committee knew this was in the discussion and they chose not to talk about it at the very end, and they waited until the summer to sidelines students' voices?

Gibbs: I do not think they are trying to sideline them because I am not going to be here. In the old bylaws of the third Monday of every month that is how they meet.

Holt: There is a relationship between the students and the committee. Staff has input. He veto's the bill because he respects their input. Not all presidents have to do that. SGA has all the power in this situation.

CB-102-07 Sooner Freshman Council Co- Chair Appointment Act (Moser/Norris)

Norris: Hey these students are good. They will do a good job.

Nadolski: What do you want to do with SFC?

Rust: I would like to encourage outside social interaction. There was not much of that this year. I would love to do more things outside of the group. They were so much fun.

Mitranca: I want to bring in more resources as freshman so they can be leaders.

Nadolski: Tell me about your favorite meeting?

Mitranca: Bridget Castorino came and spoke. There was an activity where one person was speaking and one listened and one drew. It taught us how to work together.

Rust: My favorite meeting was when Dr. Henderson talked about life and journey. The most fun game was when the past co-chairs played a job game with adjectives. Fun relaxing time to bond and learn.

Thompson: Why do you think SFC is valuable?

Rust: Because gathers good leaders in a room to meet people. This is really impactful, if you aren't Greek, to meet people.
